SENIOR CITIZEN LAUNCHES CAREER AS NOVELIST

(Berkeley, California) From Underwood typewriters and carbon paper to e-book readers and Internet downloads, author JoAnn Smith Ainsworth has seen it all when it comes to handling the written word. Her first-sale novel will be e-published Tuesday, May 13, and can be read on a computer, Palm Pilot or e-book reader.

OUT OF THE DARK—a medieval romance with a touch of paranormal and a lot of suspense—will also be in bookstores spring 2009. MATILDA'S SONG, a companion medieval romance, will be e-published September 2008.

As she approached retirement, Ainsworth began writing fiction novels. At 69, she sold two of her historical romance novels to Samhain Publishing, Ltd. (<http://samhainpublishing.com/authors/joann-smith-ainsworth>) and is writing her sixth novel, a paranormal suspense.
